Puyallup Station

The station features 300 parking spaces, bike lockers and public art by Gloria Bornstein. The City of Puyallup also hosts a rotating exhibit of temporary art installations throughout the station as part of their Art Downtown program.

Mode
Commuter rail

Highlights
Start of service: 2001

Location: The Puyallup Station is located between Meridian and Fifth streets and Main and Stewart avenues on the BNSF railway line

Public art
“Speed the Plow” by Gloria Bornstein is a series of seven archways, “based in the theme of cycles,” according to the artist.